Welsh Phrase of the Week

Our Crew Cymraeg have been working on this phrase this week; 'Beth ydy'n ni'n neud heddi?' which translates as 'What are we doing today?'

World Book Day/Andy Griffiths

Thank you to all the children for working so hard to come to school in their terrific costumes and parents and grandparents for helping out. We had a lovely day; the older children buddied up with the younger classes, we had a 'world book day parade' and got our fantastic junior librarians to give the first library books out to the juniors, the foundation classes will be done today. Here are some pictures of our pupils in the hall.

Continuing the book theme, our key stage 2 pupils enjoyed their visit to see Andy Griffiths at the Clarence Hall.

Assembly Award Winners

Well done to all our presentation assembly award winners this week.

Eisteddfod

Thank you for all your efforts and support for the Eisteddfod competitions. The standard was very high in all areas. Thank you to our judges who gave up their valuable time to help us out. Pictured below are our competition certificate winners.

Red Nose Day

This Red Nose Day, we are going to 'dance the day away' to raise money. We would like the children to come to school in P.E kits, comfortable shoes/trainers with red noses! If the children would like to wear colourful leggings, arm bands, shades etc then feel free. We hope to keep the school dancing from 9.30-3.00pm. One class at a time will dance in the hall, we will play music on the yard at lunchtimes to keep everyone moving and all the staff will be throwing some shapes as per usual!

Have a nice weekend
